BIG BATTLE AGAIN BEING FOUGHT

Russians Have Assumed the Aggressive—Japanese Gunboat Sunk With Crew

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY DISPATCH:

Tokio, Oct. 11, 11:15 a. m.—The Russians have crossed the Hum river in heavy force, and are aggressively attacking in the Japanese forces, which are moving northward. A general engagement said to be in progress. The Japanese gun boat, Heyn, was sunk by striking a mine near Port Arthur, only four of the crew of two hundred and fifty being rescued.

MEET NO OPPOSITION

RUSSIANS CONTINUE TO MARCH
SOUTHWARD WITHOUT HAVING TO FIGHT.

DIYAMA'S ARMIES WEAKENED

LIAOYANG FORCES DEPLETED TO ASSIST THE ATTACKERS AT PORT ARTHUR.

While General Kuropatkin has continued to advance his entire front against the armies of Field Marshal Oyama, he has not met with any formidable opposition. However, the expectation is that a battle of magnitude must be fought within a few days. It is believed that the Japanese will make a stand at Liaoyang. Several positions east of that place have been abandoned by the Japanese.

At St. Petersburg it is surmised that Field Marshal Oyama's forces have been weakened by the dispatch of troops to aid General Nogi in reducing Port Arthur, and that this condition has afforded General Kuropatkin an opportunity to recover ground lost during the month of August.

Tokio reports that the Japanese recently centered a heavy fire from the fleet and land batteries on the Russian vessels in Port Arthur, sinking three of them.

IS NOT FAR DISTANT

BATTLE THAT IS EXPECTED TO DECIDE THIS YEAR'S MANCHURIAN CAMPAIGN.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—A battle upon which the fate of this year's campaign in Manchuria depends seems only a few days ahead. Advances from the front are meagre. All that is positively known officially is that General Kuropatkin has cast the die at last, "about faced" his army, and is marching resolutely against the enemy as if resolved to do or die.

According to unofficial reports Field Marshal Oyama, at the first sign of General Kuropatkin taking the offensive, began drawing in his line and concentrating upon fortified positions north of Liaoyang. According to the latest reports which are contained in a press dispatch from Mukden, dated at 6 o'clock Monday night, the Japanese outposts are being driven in all along the line.

The strategy of the forward movement will be concealed, as were the preparations for the advance, so that all surmises as to where General Kuropatkin intends to strike are mere guess work. It is not clear whether General Kuropatkin contemplates a blow on the left, center or right of the Japanese army, but the fact that stress is laid upon the capture of Bentshanputze, which opens the road and forts to Bentshan, twenty miles east of Liaoyang, where General Kuroki crossed and that Cossacks are already reported in the neighborhood of the stream, might foreshadow an exact reversal of the battle of Liaoyang, this time the Russian commander flanking and turning Liaoyang with his left as Field Marshal Oyama did with his right.

No Light on Motive of Move.
Little light has been thrown upon the consideration which led General Kuropatkin suddenly to assume the offensive; but no word is heard at the war office intimating that the course favors of rashness. Officers of the general staff, while not underestimating the heavy task and severe sacrifices that are involved in assuming the offensive, nevertheless express absolute confidence that General Kuropatkin has found a weak point in the Japanese armor. Different explanations abound as to the reason for making the forward movement at this time. The advance is attributed to a the difficulty the Japanese have encountered in making good their losses at Liaoyang and replenishing their supplies and ammunition, or possibly to the drawing off of a portion of the Japanese troops to reinforce General Nogi in a desperate endeavor to end the siege of Port Arthur.

Whatever the explanation, it is apparent from the hasty manner in which the Japanese withdrew before the first show of Russian strength that their recent ostentatious preparations for an advance were largely bluff. The best opinion here is that the impending battle is likely to develop with startling rapidity.

It is reported that the Japanese have abandoned Sianchan, Saimatzze and Meichoulin, positions east of Liaoyang.

In political circles considerable stress is laid upon the moral effect upon the Chinese that may be expected from General Kuropatkin's advancing without being compelled to abandon the sacred city of Mukden, it being remembered that the Japanese failed to reach the city of imperial tombs during the China-Japanese war.

LAND BLOCKADE WEAKENED.

Port Arthur Besiegers Hurry to Assistance of Oyama.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from the Russian headquarters at Mukden Monday says the land blockade at Port Arthur has been weakened, that the Japanese at Liaoyang have been reinforced by 15,000 men by way of Newchwang, and that they expect three additional divisions in a few days.

STOESSSEL SETS TIME LIMIT.

London, Oct. 11.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says it is stated that General Stoessel has reported that unless he is relieved before December, he must surrender.

GETS A CABINET SEAT

ROBERT J. WYNNE IS NAMED TO SUCCEED POSTMASTER GENERAL PAYNE.

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt has announced the appointment of Robert J. Wynne, acting postmaster general, as postmaster general. The appointment of Mr. Wynne as a member of the president's cabinet was not unexpected by those in close touch with the situation. It was known that in the event of Mr. Payne's death the president would designate Mr. Wynne as acting postmaster general because of his familiarity with the affairs of the department. Two days after the death of Mr. Payne the president so designated Mr. Wynne and to those of his friends to whom he talked confidentially on the subject he indicated his intention, if there should be no change in the situation, of naming him as postmaster general until such time as George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee, should arrange his affairs so as to assume the duties of postmaster general. How long Mr. Wynne may continue as postmaster general has not been determined. Beyond the statement that the appointment is temporary in character nothing is known. The probability is that he will be succeeded by Mr. Cortelyou about Jan. 1.

Mr. Wynne was formally inducted into his new office at 4 p. m. The ceremony occurred in the private office in the postoffice department which he has occupied since he became first assistant postmaster general. The oath was administered by Chief Clerk John J. Howley of the First assistant's office, who now becomes acting first assistant postmaster general.

Trial of Dr. A. A. Ames.

Minneapolis, Oct. 11.—Dr. A. A. Ames, four times mayor of Minneapolis, faces a jury for the third time. He is charged with accepting a bribe of $20 from Bessie Lee, a woman engaged in an unlawful vocation, in return for police protection. Seven jurors were secured Monday.

TWENTY-NINE KILLED

SIXTY OTHER PERSONS INJURED
IN TRAIN WRECK NEAR WARRENSBURG, MO.

EXCURSIONISTS THE VICTIMS

NEARLY ALL OF THE KILLED AND INJURED WERE GOING TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Warrensburg, Mo., Oct. 11.—Twenty-nine persons were killed and sixty injured by a collision of Missouri Pacific trains three miles east of Warrensburg at 4 o'clock Monday morning. The trains were the second section of passenger train No. 30, which left Wichita, Kan., for St. Louis at night and an extra freight train. The dead are in undertaking rooms in this city and most of the injured are in the railroad hospitals at Sedalia, Mo.

The dead are: Mrs. A. J. Darsk and twelve-year-old son, Gilbert, W. H. Allen and two sons, Baird and Francis, Dorsey Green, T. F. Doves, Ada Kane, Dollie Sullivan, Nellie Sullivan, T. H. Alley, Mrs. Hattie Kelsey, G. A. Weber, Dick Ream, Cal Ream, Gertrude Loud, Clarence Herring, Dr. P. H. McIlheny, Bessie McIlheny, Mrs. Susan Cooper, Phil Ragel, wife and son, Harry Carr, Brakeman Seidl, Mrs. J. J. Casement, Mrs. N. S. Lindsey and an unidentified woman, riding in the cab of the passenger engine.

Most of the injured are from small towns in Kansas.

The passenger train, consisting of two day coaches, a Pullman and a caboose, was loaded with world's fair excursionists from Southeast Kansas, and Southwest Missouri.

The regular passenger train No. 30 had been cut in two at Pleasant Hill on account of the heavy load and an engine attached to the front car without a baggage car as a buffer.

Accident Due to an Error.

The extra freight had sidetracked at Montserrat for the first section of No. 30, which carried signals that a second section was following. This was followed by passenger train No. 50, which the freight crew took for the second section of No. 30. The freight pulled out of the sidetrack and three miles west met the second section. The impact telescoped the tender of the passenger engine into the front car, which was loaded with passengers and it was here that the sacrifice took place. The passenger conductor, E. L. Barnes, ran all the way to Warrensburg and told the news of the wreck.

Every physician in the town responded and hundreds of citizens hastened to the wreck and assisted the injured from beneath the timbers of the broken cars. Twenty people were killed outright and nine died within a few hours. The dead were placed upon flat cars and brought to this city and Dr. Bills, the coroner, immediately impaneled a jury and started on the inquiry which is still in session.

The afternoon was taken up in identifying the dead and at night the conductor of the freight train was on the stand. He claims to have been dozing while his train was at Montserrat and when train No. 50 passed, Engineer Porter believed it was the second section of No. 30 and thinking the track clear, pulled out on the main line.

Josie Gregg of Sedan, Kan., died in the hospital at Sedalia, at night.

No further deaths were reported from Sealia up to midnight. The coroner's jury is expected to return a verdict today.

CASE OF MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Young Hungarian Kills His Sister-in-Law and Himself.

Shawano, I. T., Oct. 11.—The dead bodies of two Hungarians, John Namet, aged twenty-one, and his half brother's wife, Mrs. James Tish, aged twenty-two, were found in the woods close to Mine No. 22 Monday. Mrs. Tish was shot twice through the left breast, and John Namet was shot twice through the head. A revolver was lying by his side. It is believed Namet was enamored of his sister-in-law, who was a handsome young woman, and despairing of ever claiming her as his own, decided to kill her and himself.

INSANE MAN USES REVOLVER.

Shoots at Passengers on a Train and Hits Two of Them.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 11.—Daniel Tuleg of Chicago became suddenly deranged on a Pennsylvania passenger train near Warsaw Monday and drawing a revolver began shooting among the passengers. Carl Peckham, aged fifteen, and George Gault, aged twenty-five, both of Monroeville, were hit by the flying bullets. Peckham was shot near the heart and will die.

The man was overpowered by the trainmen and passengers and brought to Fort Wayne, where he was lodged in jail.

Bryan Talks in Missouri.

Marysville, Mo., Oct. 11.—William J. Bryan addressed an open air meeting here Monday. He made an earnest plea for the election of Joseph W. Folk, Democratic candidate for governor of Missouri. Mr. Bryan said imperialism was now, as four years ago, the paramount national issue. He urged his hearers to support Judge Parker. Mr. Bryan also spoke at Chillicothe, Mo.

'Tis said that "all things come to him who waits." This, perhaps, is true; but there is one indisputable fact, and that is that the best things will come to those who wait for our opening before making their fall purchases. In no part of this store will this truth be verified more than in the ladies' suit department. You can find nothing newer, no stock larger nor values greater than we will show. Then, too, it is so much more satisfactory to select just what you want from stock without the vexing delay attending the awaiting of its coming.

BIG BATTLE AGAIN BEING FOUGHT

Russians Have Assumed the Aggressive---Japanese Gunboat Sunk With Crew

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY DISPATCH:

Tokio, Oct. 11, 11:15 a. m.—The Russians have crossed the Hum river in heavy force, and are aggressively attacking the Japanese forces, which are moving northward. A general engagement said to be in progress. The Japanese gun boat, Heyn, was sunk by striking a mine near Port Arthur, only four of the crew of two hundred and fifty being rescued.

MEET NO OPPOSITION

RUSSIANS CONTINUE TO MARCH SOUTHWARD WITHOUT HAVING TO FIGHT.

DIYAMA'S ARMIES WEAKENED

LIAOYANG FORCES DEPLETED TO ASSIST THE ATTACKERS AT PORT ARTHUR.

While General Kuropatkin has continued to advance his entire front against the armies of Field Marshal Oyama, he has not met with any formidable opposition. However, the expectation is that a battle of magnitude must be fought within a few days. It is believed that the Japanese will make a stand at Liaoyang. Several positions east of that place have been abandoned by the Japanese.

At St. Petersburg it is surmised that Field Marshal Oyama's forces have been weakened by the dispatch of troops to aid General Nogi in reducing Port Arthur, and that this condition has afforded General Kuropatkin an opportunity to recover ground lost during the month of August.

Tokio reports that the Japanese recently centered a heavy fire from the fleet and land batteries on the Russian vessels in Port Arthur, sinking three of them.

IS NOT FAR DISTANT

BATTLE THAT IS EXPECTED TO DECIDE THIS YEAR'S MANCHURIAN CAMPAIGN.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—A battle upon which the fate of this year's campaign in Manchuria depends seems only a few days ahead. Advice from the front are meagre. All that is positively known officially is that General Kuropatkin has cast the die at last, "about faced" his army, and is marching resolutely against the enemy as if resolved to do or die.

According to unofficial reports Field Marshal Oyama, at the first sign of General Kuropatkin taking the offensive, began drawing in his line and concentrating upon fortified positions north of Liaoyang. According to the latest reports which are contained in a press dispatch from Mukden, dated at 6 o'clock Monday night, the Japanese outposts are being driven in all along the line.

The strategy of the forward movement will be concealed, as were the preparations for the advance, so that all surmises as to where General Kuropatkin intends to strike are mere guess work. It is not clear whether General Kuropatkin contemplates a blow on the left, center or right of the Japanese army, but the fact that stress is laid upon the capture of Bentziaputze, which opens the road and forts to Bentshiu, twenty miles east of Liaoyang, where General Kuroki crossed, and that Cossacks are already reported in the neighborhood of the stream, might foreshadow an exact reversal of the battle of Liaoyang, this time the Russian commander flanking and turning Liaoyang with his left as Field Marshal Oyama did with his right.

No Light on Motive of Move.

Little light has been thrown upon the consideration which led General Kuropatkin suddenly to assume the offensive; but no word is heard at the war office intimating that the course savors of rashness. Officers of the general staff, while not underestimating the heavy task and severe sacrifices that are involved in assuming the offensive, nevertheless express absolute confidence that General Kuropatkin has found a weak point in the Japanese armor. Different explanations abound as to the reason for making the forward movement at this time. The advance is attributed to a desire to force General Kuropatkin to the "front" the Japanese have encountered in making good their losses at Liaoyang and replenishing their supplies and ammunition, or possibly to the drawing off of a portion of the Japanese troops to reinforce General Nogi in a desperate endeavor to end the siege of Port Arthur.

Whatever the explanation, it is apparent from the hasty manner in which the Japanese withdrew before the first show of Russian strength that their recent ostentatious preparations for an advance were largely bluff. The best opinion here is that the impending battle is likely to develop with startling rapidity.

It is reported that the Japanese have abandoned Sianchan, Saimatze and Meichoulin, positions east of Liaoyang.

In political circles considerable stress is laid upon the moral effect upon the Chinese that may be expected from General Kuropatkin's advancing without being compelled to abandon the sacred city of Mukden, it being remembered that the Japanese failed to reach the city of imperial tombs during the China-Japanese war.

LAND BLOCKADE WEAKENED.

Port Arthur Besiegers Hurry to Assistance of Oyama.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from the Russian headquarters at Mukden Monday says the land blockade at Port Arthur has been weakened, that the Japanese at Liaoyang have been reinforced by 15,000 men by way of Newchwang and that they expect three additional divisions in a few days.

STOESSEL SETS TIME LIMIT.

Must Surrender Unless Relieved Before December.

London, Oct. 11.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says it is stated that General Stoessel has reported that unless he is relieved before December, he must surrender.

ROBERT J. WYNNE IS NAMED TO SUCCEED POSTMASTER GENERAL PAYNE.

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt has announced the appointment of Robert J. Wynne, acting postmaster general, as postmaster general.

The appointment of Mr. Wynne as a member of the president's cabinet was not unexpected by those in close touch with the situation. It was known that in the event of Mr. Payne's death the president would designate Mr. Wynne as acting postmaster general because of his familiarity as first assistant postmaster general with the affairs of the department. Two days after the death of Mr. Payne the president so designated Mr. Wynne and to those of his friends to whom he talked confidentially on the subject he indicated his intention, if there should be no change in the situation, of naming him as postmaster general until such time as George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee, should arrange his affairs so as to assume the duties of postmaster general.

How long Mr. Wynne may continue as postmaster general has not been determined. Beyond the statement that the appointment is temporary in character nothing is known. The probability is that he will be succeeded by Mr. Cortelyou about Jan. 1.

Mr. Wynne was formally inducted into his new office at 4 p. m. The ceremony occurred in the private office in the postoffice department which he has occupied since he became first assistant postmaster general. The oath was administered by Chief Clerk John J. Howley of the first assistant's office, who now becomes acting first assistant postmaster general.

Trial of Dr. A. A. Ames.

Minneapolis, Oct. 11.—Dr. A. A. Ames, four times mayor of Minneapolis, faces a jury for the third time. He is charged with accepting a bribe of $20 from Bessie Lee, a woman engaged in an unlawful vocation, in return for police protection. Seven jurors were secured Monday.

TWENTY-NINE KILLED

SIXTY OTHER PERSONS INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK NEAR WARRENSBURG, MO.

EXCURSIONISTS THE VICTIMS

NEARLY ALL OF THE KILLED AND INJURED WERE GOING TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Warrensburg, Mo., Oct. 11.—Twenty-nine persons were killed and sixty injured by a collision of Missouri Pacific trains three miles east of Warrensburg at 4 o'clock Monday morning. The trains were the second section of passenger train No. 30, which left Wichita, Kan., for St. Louis at night and an extra freight train. The dead are in undertaking rooms in this city and most of the injured are in the railroad hospitals at Sedalia, Mo.

The dead are: Mrs. A. J. Darsk and twelve-year-old son, Gilbert, W. H. Allen and two sons, Baird and Francis, Dorsey Green, T. F. Dore, Ada Kane, Dollie Sullivan, Nellie Sullivan, T. H. Alley, Mrs. Hattie Kelsey, G. A. Weber, Dick Ream, Cal Ream, Gertrude Loud, Clarence Herring, Dr. P. H. McIlhenny, Bessie McIlhenny, Mrs. Susan Cooper, Phil Ragel, wife and son, Harry Carr, Brakeman Seidl, Mrs. J. J. Cassenent, Mrs. N. S. Lindsey and an unidentified woman, riding in the cab of the passenger engine.

Most of the injured are from small towns in Kansas.

The passenger train, consisting of two day coaches, a Pullman and a caboose, was loaded with world's fair excursionists from Southeast Kansas, and Southwest Missouri.

The regular passenger train No. 30 had been cut in two at Pleasant Hill on account of the heavy load and an engine attached to the front car without a baggage car as a buffer.

Accident Due to an Error.

The extra freight had sidetracked at Montserrat for the first section of No. 30, which carried signals that a second section was following. This was followed by passenger train No. 50, which the freight crew took for the second section of No. 30. The freight pulled out of the sidetrack and three miles west met the second section. The impact telescoped the tender of the passenger engine into the front car, which was loaded with passengers and it was here that the sacrifice took place. The passenger conductor, E. L. Barnes, ran all the way to Warrensburg and told the news of the wreck.

Every physician in the town responded and hundreds of citizens hastened to the wreck and assisted the injured from beneath the timbers of the broken cars. Twenty people were killed outright and nine died within a few hours. The dead were placed upon flat cars and brought to this city and Dr. Bills, the coroner, immediately impounded a jury and started on the inquiry which is still in session.

The afternoon was taken up in identifying the dead and at night the conductor of the freight train was on the stand. He claims to have been dozing while his train was at Montserrat and when train No. 50 passed, Engineer Porter believed it was the second section of No. 30 and thinking the track clear, pulled out on the main line.

Josie Gregg of Sedan, Kan., died in the hospital at Sedalia, at night.

No further deaths were reported from Sedalia up to midnight. The coroner's jury is expected to return a verdict today.

CASE OF MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Young Hungarian Kills His Sister-in-Law and Himself.

Shawano, I. T., Oct. 11.—The dead bodies of two Hungarians, John Namet, aged twenty-one, and his half brother's wife, Mrs. James Tish, aged twenty-two, were found in the woods close to Mine No. 22 Monday. Mrs. Tish was shot twice through the left breast, and John Namet was shot twice through the head. A revolver was lying by his side. It is believed Namet was enamored of his sister-in-law, who was a handsome young woman, and despairing of ever claiming her as his own, decided to kill her and himself.

INSANE MAN USES REVOLVER.

Shoots at Passengers on a Train and Hits Two of Them.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 11.—Daniel Tuigg of Chicago became suddenly deranged on a Pennsylvania passenger train near Warsaw Monday and drawing a revolver began shooting among the passengers. Carl Peckham, aged fifteen, and George Gault, aged twenty-five, both of Monroeville, were hit by the flying bullets. Peckham was shot near the heart and will die.

The man was overpowered by the trainmen and passengers and brought to Fort Wayne, where he was lodged in jail.

Bryan Talks in Missouri.

Marysville, Mo., Oct. 11.—William J. Bryan addressed an open air meeting here Monday. He made an earnest plea for the election of Joseph W. Folk, Democratic candidate for governor of Missouri. Mr. Bryan said imperialism was now, as four years ago, the paramount national issue. He urged his hearers to support Judge Parker. Mr. Bryan also spoke at Chillicothe, Mo.

To those that wait

'Tis said that "all things come to him who waits." This, perhaps, is true; but there is one indisputable fact, and that is that the best things will come to those who wait for our opening before making their fall purchases. In no part of this store will this truth be verified more than in the ladies' suit department. You can find nothing newer, no stock larger nor values greater than we will show. Then, too, it is so much more satisfactory to select just what you want from stock without the vexing delay attending the awaiting of its coming.

We find it necessary to defer our opening until Tuesday, October 18th. We do this that we may present to you a thoroughly modern store, complete in all its appointments. We have some very special inducements for the ladies who shall attend our opening which we shall tell about a few days later.

Don't forget that the next governor of Minnesota will be in Brainerd tomorrow night at the opera house. The seating capacity should be taxed by the voters of Brainerd and vicinity to hear R. C. Dunn.

Judging from comments heard in various sections of Cass county Buckman will receive pretty near as many democratic votes in the general election as he did in the primary—when there were only ten democratic ballots cast, says the Walker Pilot. Foster, undoubtedly, got a number of democratic votes, those that will now be cast for Van Dyke, who would have preferred Foster to Buckman as an opponent, but there are many democrats who are honest enough to admit the wisdom of returning an experienced man to congress, and who will vote accordingly.

The fine tribute paid R. C. Dunn by Senator Knute Nelson as to his honesty, integrity and fitness for the high position of governor of the state of Minnesota was not uttered simply for political effect but because Senator Nelson knew his friend of many years had been unjustly assailed and that his honor had been attacked by a hoard of hungry office seekers who hoped by this method to discredit a man who was held in high esteem by the people. That Senator Nelson was honest in his utterances none will question and the effect has been to make many friends for Mr. Dunn among those who were considered lukewarm.

A PHANTOM FARM.

James Russell Lowell Got a Glimpse of It, So It Is Said.

A curious story of James Russell Lowell is told. It runs about as follows and deals with a "witch farm." The place is a forest near New York, at some distance, but within a walk from the city. On the edge of the forest a farm will at times appear which no one remembers to have ever seen unless he happens to be among the few who have had the uncanny privilege. There is no one about the farm, no sound is heard, yet there are signs of busy occupation. The door is open, empty milk pails lean against the wall, newly cleaned pans and dairy utensils and butter churns are set out to dry; clothes hang on the line in a little drying ground.

Whoever chances on the farm seldom stops long to look. He will pass on, thinking to himself: "I don't seem to remember that farm. I must inquire about it in town." In town not a soul knows anything about it, and never will that person see the farm again, however often he may return to look for it. Then others will go out to seek the witch farm. Over and over again will they pass and re-pass the very spot where it had been seen, retracing their steps and puzzling and saying: "It must be there. We have mistaken the way."

They are few indeed to whom the spectral farm has shown itself. Lowell himself once saw it. On the verge of the wood he passed a homestead which appeared precisely as has been described. Lowell saw it all and passed on without thinking, then suddenly stopped short with a feeling of something strange, turned and sauntered slowly back. But no house at all was there, and he was unable to find again the exact spot where it had been.

THE LAW OF MOTION.

Effect of Dropping a Weight on and Off a Moving Car.

If a person were to jump into the air from the floor of a car in a rapidly moving train his feet would reach the floor in a direct line to the very spot from which he jumped, in accordance with the second law of motion, which says: If there be two or more causes of motion taking place in two different right lines, whether inherent in the body or external to it, their effects do not interfere, nor does either diminish or augment the effect of the other. In other words, when a force acts upon a body in motion the change of motion which it produces is in the direction and proportioned to the magnitude of the force which acts. Those who move on a railroad at the rate of thirty miles an hour, or forty-five feet in a second, do not find the relation in which they stand to the objects in the car in any degree changed by the velocity. Take a stone by way of illustration—instead of the person jumping—and it, like the passengers, has a common motion onward with and derived from the train, and when let fall from the hand it retains that motion during its descent. At the beginning of its fall it would have the speed of the train in a horizontal direction, and gravity would act upon it in a vertical direction, and it would fall as if the car was without motion. If the stone be dropped outside from the platform of the car to the lower step thereof instead of to the ground it will be found that in accordance with the laws stated it will fall in a direct vertical line, the same as does the stone let fall inside the car. The stone, if dropped to the ground outside, likewise falls in a direct vertical line, but it has lost the onward motion of the train and is left behind.

A PHANTOM FARM.

James Russell Lowell Got a Glimpse of It, So It Is Said.

A curious story of James Russell Lowell is told. It runs about as follows and deals with a "witch farm." The place is a forest near New York, at some distance, but within a walk from the city. On the edge of the forest a farm will at times appear which no one remembers to have ever seen unless he happens to be among the few who have had the uncanny privilege. There is no one about the farm, no sound is heard, yet there are signs of busy occupation. The door is open, empty milk pails lean against the wall, newly cleaned pans and dairy utensils and butter churns are set out to dry; clothes hang on the line in a little drying ground.

Whoever chances on the farm seldom stops long to look. He will pass on, thinking to himself: "I don't seem to remember that farm. I must inquire about it in town." In town no soul knows anything about it, and never will that person see the farm again, however often he may return to look for it. Then others will go out to seek the witch farm. Over and over again will they pass and repass the very spot where it had been seen, retracing their steps and puzzling and saying: "It must be there. We have mistaken the way."

They are few indeed to whom the spectral farm has shown itself. Lowell himself once saw it. On the verge of the wood he passed a homestead which appeared precisely as has been described. Lowell saw it all and passed on without thinking, then suddenly stopped short with a feeling of something strange, turned and sauntered slowly back. But no house at all was there, and he was unable to find again the exact spot where it had been.

THE LAW OF MOTION.

Effect of Dropping a Weight on and Off a Moving Car.

If a person were to jump into the air from the floor of a car in a rapidly moving train his feet would reach the floor in a direct line to the very spot from which he jumped, in accordance with the second law of motion, which says: If there be two or more causes of motion taking place in two different right lines, whether inherent in the body or external to it, their effects do not interfere, nor does either diminish or augment the effect of the other. In other words, when a force acts upon a body in motion the change of motion which it produces is in the direction and proportioned to the magnitude of the force which acts. Those who move on a railroad at the rate of thirty miles an hour, or forty-five feet in a second, do not find the relation in which they stand to the objects in the car in any degree changed by the velocity. Take a stone by way of illustration—instead of the person jumping—and it, like the passengers, has a common motion onward with and derived from the train, and when let fall from the hand it retains that motion during its descent. At the beginning of its fall it would have the speed of the train in a horizontal direction, and gravity would act upon it in a vertical direction, and it would fall as if the car was without motion. If the stone be dropped outside from the platform of the car to the lower step thereof instead of to the ground it will be found that in accordance with the laws stated it will fall in a direct vertical line, the same as does the stone let fall inside the car. The stone, if dropped to the ground outside, likewise falls in a direct vertical line, but it has lost the onward motion of the train and is left behind.

Don't forget that the next governor of Minnesota will be in Brainerd tomorrow night at the opera house. The seating capacity should be taxed by the voters of Brainerd and vicinity to hear R. C. Dunn.

JUDGING from comments heard in various sections of Cass county Buckman will receive pretty near as many democratic votes in the general election as he did in the primary—when there were only ten democratic ballots cast, says the Walker Pilot. Foster, undoubtedly, got a number of democratic votes, those that will now be cast for Van Dyke, who would have preferred Foster to Buckman as an opponent, but there are many democrats who are honest enough to admit the wisdom of returning an experienced man to congress, and who will vote accordingly.

The fine tribute paid R. C. Dunn by Senator Knute Nelson as to his honesty, integrity and fitness for the high position of governor of the state of Minnesota was not uttered simply for political effect but because Senator Nelson knew his friend of many years had been unjustly assailed and that his honor had been attacked by a hoard of hungry office seekers who hoped by this method to discredit a man who was held in high esteem by the people. That Senator Nelson was honest in his utterances none will question and the effect has been to make many friends for Mr. Dunn among those who were considered lukewarm.

Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia. Now in Good Health.

Dr. M. M. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—After a sickness of more than five years, I was tempted to try your Kidney and Backache Cure. In the mean time I had tried or been under about 20 doctors care at the beginning of my trouble. It was thought to be only a local one, but as time wore on I became worse, so that at last I could not stand on my feet. Then my arms and hands became useless.

But at last after a very long time the use of both came back to me so that I could walk a little with the aid of crutches. The doctors helped me to this point and no further, and for 23 years I kept in the same condition.

Through the use of your Kidney and Backache Cure I am now in good health. Will say, the doctors told me—all of them—that there was no cure for me, because I was then suffering from Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia.

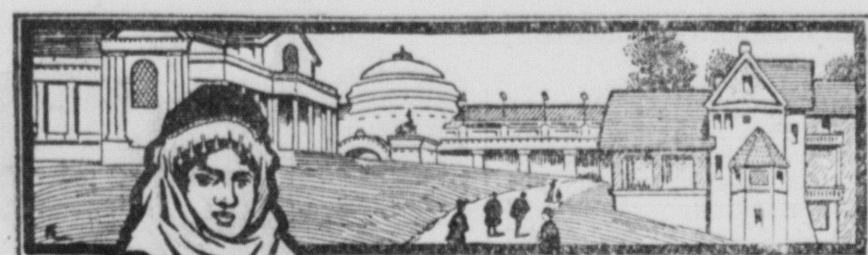

I remain yours Respectfully,

Housekeepers!!

Save dollars in fuel

You can not afford to say to yourself "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Cole's Hot Blast is the Modern Heater

It produces an even temperature because it is air-tight and burns all the gases in the fuel with the patented Hot Blast Draft. Soft coal is half gas. Even heat all night. Fire never out with Cole's Hot Blast. It has double the positive radiating power of other stoves. No extremes of heat and cold. The smoke proof feed door is a great feature.

If you want to keep your plants from freezing and enjoy the luxury of getting up in warm rooms every morning without kindling new fires, investigate Cole's Hot Blast today. With every stove goes this

GUARANTEE

1—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size.

2—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any lower burner with same heating surface.

3—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.

4—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal thirty-six hours, without attention.

5—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal or hard coal, lignite or slack.

6—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.

7—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good flue.

RUSSO-GERMAN PACT

WILL ALLOW RUSSIA TO SEND TROOPS FROM POLAND TO THE ORIENT.

WHAT GERMANY IS SEEKING

SUPPORT OF RUSSIA IN CASE SHE ATTEMPTS TO ANNEX THE NETHERLANDS.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—The rumor of the existence of a secret understanding between Russia and Germany covering the war in the far East has again been revived. According to the latest version Germany gives certain guarantees to Emperor Nicholas regarding the German frontier, which will enable Russia to withdraw troops from the big garrisons maintained in Russian Poland and dispatch them to the far East, besides agreeing to support Russia in the peace negotiations at the end of the war. Germany's compensation in addition to the concessions made in the commercial treaties already negotiated is to be the support of Russia in the attempt to incorporate The Netherlands in the German confederation in the event of the death of Queen Wilhelmina without a direct heir.

While the story is ridiculed in responsible quarters, it receives credence among some diplomats.

CAMPAIGN IN THE WEST.

Democratic Chairman Taggart Will Devote Most of His Time to It.

New York, Oct. 11.—A few callers were received by Judge Parker Monday at his apartments at the Hotel Seville where he will remain until Thursday night on the fifth of his political visits to New York. Chairman Taggart had a long visit with Judge Parker at night. Inasmuch as the national chairman is soon to leave for Indiana to give the situation there most of his time until election day the conversation was confined almost exclusively to the campaign in that state. It has been decided by Mr. Taggart and his associates that his presence will be needed in the West hereafter and while he will be kept advised on everything that takes place at national headquarters, the active management in the East will fall almost entirely on Senator Gorman and Vice Chairman Delancy Nicoll, with W. F. Sheehan devoting most of his attention to the situation in New York.

In this connection it is said Colonel Daniel S. Lamont, secretary of war under Former President Cleveland, will be identified with the campaign closer than ever.

Judge Parker, it is said, does not intend to spend more than one or two days out of each week in New York after he returns home on Thursday. A number of delegations have asked for dates when they may visit the candidate at Esopus.

FAIRBANKS TALKS AT OMAHA.

Predicts Success of Republican Ticket in Nebraska.

Omaha, Oct. 11.—In a speech here last night Senator Fairbanks discussed the trust question.

The meeting at which Senator Fairbanks spoke was held at the new auditorium building in this city and that capacious edifice was almost filled. Senator Fairbanks arrived at 7 o'clock, and after a short drive through the streets was escorted to the auditorium. Senator Fairbanks was received with hearty applause. In addition to the discussion of the trusts, he touched upon the tariff question and discussed other issues. He outlined the policy of the Republican party with reference to the Panama canal, claiming for that party all the credit for what has been done in the interest of that enterprise. He predicted as a result of his observations in this state that it will cast its vote in November for the Republican ticket.

Senator Fairbanks spent the night here and will Tuesday begin a two-day speaking tour of Iowa.

GREAT SALE OF TIMBER.

Four Hundred Million Feet Goes to Highest Bidder.

Duluth, Oct. 11.—The department of the interior calls attention to the great sale of pine timber to be made on the Chippewa Indian reservation. The day of the sale is Nov. 15 and bids to receive consideration must be filed before 4 p. m. of the preceding day, Nov. 14.

The amount of timber to be offered, according to the government estimate, is 418,408,000 feet. Considerably more than one-half of it is white pine and the remainder is Norway. The timber is found on the Pigeon River, Fond du Lac, Bois Fort, Deer Creek, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Leech Lake, Winnibigoshish, Red Lake and White Earth reserves. The greatest amount of pine to be offered on any one reservation is at the White Earth, where there is 128,306,000 feet of white pine and 82,468,000 feet of Norway. No bids will be received for a less sum than $4 a thousand feet for Norway and $5 per thousand for white pine.

TRASHY NOVELS TO BLAME.

Two Illinois Girls End Their Lives With Poison.

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 11.—A suicide pact has resulted in the death of Miss Minnie Hild, twenty years old, and Lulu Cook, fourteen years old, daughters of farmers twenty miles south of this city. Clashed in each others arms the two drank the contents of an ounce bottle of strychnine. The reading of trashy novels is said to have led to the suicide.

French Steamer Wrecked.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 11.—The French steamer Landoise went ashore Monday at Cape St. George and was totally wrecked. The crew barely escaped with their lives.

BOSTON TEAM WINS PENNANT.

Takes One Game of a Double-Header in New York.

New York, Oct. 11.—Boston vanquished New York on the baseball field here Monday, winning the American League championship pennant for the second time. It was a sensational finish to a thrilling struggle which has been going on for several months. During the past two months these teams have been seeing each other in the lead for championship fame and the issue narrowed down to the outcome of Monday's double-header on the Washington Heights grounds. Baltimore, Oct. 11.—The campaign tour of Hon. Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, through Maryland and West Virginia, was begun here last night by an immense gathering of Democrats in Lyric hall, the concourse being so vast that thousands, unable to gain admission to the hall, were addressed at an overflow meeting from a stand on the public streets hastily erected for the occasion. The proceedings were marked by great enthusiasm from first to last. Senator Davis received an enthusiastic ovation upon his appearance, as did William Pinckney Whyte, David B. Hill, Senator Gorman and Senator Daniel, all of whom made speeches. Senator Gorman presided.

MISSIONARY MASS MEETINGS.

Addressed by the Archbishop of Canterbury at Boston.

Boston, Oct. 11.—The archbishop of Canterbury and bishops representing various parts of the world addressed a great missionary mass meeting in Tremont temple last night. The attendance was so large that it was necessary to hold an overflow meeting in St. Paul's church at which most of the addresses were repeated. The address of the archbishop was probably the last he will make during his stay in America. The archbishop put in the day by speaking at three gatherings.

The principal business transacted by the convention was the adoption of a resolution naming Richmond, Va., as the place for the next triennial convention in 1907.

KILLS HIS LITTLE CHILDREN.

Despondent Ohio Man Then Tries to End His Own Life.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 11.—Behumil Schnepf, a Bohemian, forty-one years of age, living at 48 Congress street, took his two children, Emma and John, aged four and three years, into the cellar of their home Monday and killed them by shooting them in the temple. The children had been gagged to prevent an outcry. After killing his children Schnepf went to the cemetery where his wife, who died a year ago, is buried, and fatally shot himself in the head. Besides shooting his children, Schnepf struck them on the head with a five-pound hammer. Schnepf has been ill for months and had brooded over the death of his wife.

THE WORD "HOODLUM."

Man and Incident From Which It Sprung in San Francisco.

"Hoodlum," the word which has found place in the vernacular of the local lexicon, is well understood to apply to a class of objectionable young toughs who have no respect for sex, age or the rights of decent people and no sense of what is proper or becoming in the character of him to whom the epithet is justly applied—a hoodlum today, a criminal tomorrow.

While the meaning of the term is well understood by the people, few there be who know the derivation of the word and how it came to be forced into our language. It is this:

It was in 1872, when the Odd Fellows held a picnic at Redwood City. On that occasion a gang of toughs "budded in" with the otherwise orderly attendance. Among the gang who went from San Francisco was one whose name was Hood Lummix. Nature would seem to have had a farcical part in the creation of the original hoodlum, for Hood Lummix was a most peculiarly formed creature. Clumsy, big footed, with a big mouth and protruding teeth, thick lips, a big bushy head of hair of a dirty brick color, standing out like the quills on a porcupine, this almost malformed specimen, as is usual, attracted the attention of a lot of young rowdies who picked upon him as being an easy guy for a day's sport. Go where he might, he was followed by a gang who hooted and yelled and, in brief, made things unpleasantly lively during the day, but more particularly in the afternoon when the steam beer commenced to do its work.

The amusement of the gang did not confine itself to the picnic grounds. On the contrary, they went outside, broke into orchards and flower gardens, destroying valuable property, and finally wound up the day by shooting a valuable horse belonging to a rancher. This last act was more than the sheriff of San Mateo was prepared to stand, and as a result he bagged a couple of dozen of the chief offenders. When the cases came up before the justice of the peace in Redwood each and every one of the accused laid the entire blame on Hood Lummix. Poor, simple minded Hood got six months in jail, and in sentencing him the justice, who was very much displeased that he could not send the entire gang to state prison, delivered a lecture to the offenders, in which he said: "I now warn you to keep out of this county; we want no more of Hood Lummix or his gang to visit us." Hence the word became coined by dropping the last syllable of the name, making the word as now used, "hoodlum."—San Francisco Call.

Mexico's Floating Gardens.

The floating gardens in the lakes near the City of Mexico were recently visited by an English naturalist, who reports them a paradise and accounts for their existence. Floating tangles of peat moss, rushes and grass are caught by stakes driven into the soft lake bottom, and upon this moss rich mud from the bottom is thrown. The surface is then transformed by cultivation into a floating garden.

Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia. Now in Good Health.

Dr. M. M. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—After a sickness of more than five years, I was tempted to try your Kidney and Backache Cure. In the mean time I had tried or been under about 20 doctors care at the beginning of my trouble. It was thought to be only a local one, but as time wore on I became worse, so that at last I could not stand on my feet. Then my arms and hands became useless.

But at last after a very long time the use of both came back to me so that I could walk a little with the aid of crutches. The doctors helped me to this point and no further, and for 2 1/2 years I kept in the same condition.

Through the use of your Kidney and Backache Cure I am now in good health. Will say, the doctors told me—all of them—that there was no cure for me, because I was then suffering from Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia.

I remain yours Respectfully,

Save dollars in fuel

You can not afford to say to yourself "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Cole's Hot Blast is the Modern Heater

It produces an even temperature because it is air-tight and burns all the gases in the fuel with the patented Hot Blast Draft. Soft coal is half gas. Even heat all night. Fire never out with Cole's Hot Blast. It has double the positive radiating power of other stoves. No extremes of heat and cold. The smoke proof feed door is a great feature.

If you want to keep your plants from freezing and enjoy the luxury of getting up in warm rooms every morning without kindling new fires, investigate Cole's Hot Blast today. With every stove goes this

GUARANTEE

1—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size.
2—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner with same heating surface.
3—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.

4—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal thirty-six hours, without attention.

5—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal or hard coal, lignite or slack.

6—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.

7—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good flue.

RUSSO-GERMAN PACT

WILL ALLOW RUSSIA TO SEND TROOPS FROM POLAND TO THE ORIENT.

WHAT GERMANY IS SEEKING

SUPPORT OF RUSSIA IN CASE SHE ATTEMPTS TO ANNEX THE NETHERLANDS.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—The rumor of the existence of a secret understanding between Russia and Germany covering the war in the far East has again been revived. According to the latest version Germany gives certain guarantees to Emperor Nicholas regarding the German frontier, which will enable Russia to withdraw troops from the big garrisons maintained in Russian Poland and dispatch them to the far East, besides agreeing to support Russia in the peace negotiations at the end of the war. Germany's compensation in addition to the concessions made in the commercial treaties already negotiated is to be the support of Russia in the attempt to incorporate The Netherlands in the German confederation in the event of the death of Queen Wilhelmina without a direct heir.

While the story is ridiculed in responsible quarters, it receives credence among some diplomats.

CAMPAIGN IN THE WEST.

Democratic Chairman Taggart Will Devote Most of His Time to It.

New York, Oct. 11.—A few callers were received by Judge Parker Monday at his apartments at the Hotel Seville where he will remain until Thursday night on the fifth of his political visits to New York. Chairman Taggart had a long visit with Judge Parker at night. Inasmuch as the national chairman is soon to leave for Indiana to give the situation there most of his time until election day the conversation was confined almost exclusively to the campaign in that state. It has been decided by Mr. Taggart and his associates that his presence will be needed in the West hereafter and while he will be kept advised on everything that takes place at national headquarters, the active management in the East will fall almost entirely on Senator Gorman and Vice Chairman Delancy Nicol, with W. F. Sheehan devoting most of his attention to the situation in New York.

In this connection it is said Colonel Daniel S. Lamont, secretary of war under Former President Cleveland, will be identified with the campaign closer than ever.

Judge Parker, it is said, does not intend to spend more than one or two days out of each week in New York after he returns home on Thursday. A number of delegations have asked for dates when they may visit the candidate at Esopus.

FAIRBANKS TALKS AT OMAHA.

Predicts Success of Republican Ticket in Nebraska.

Omaha, Oct. 11.—In a speech here last night Senator Fairbanks discussed the trust question.

The meeting at which Senator Fairbanks spoke was held at the new auditorium building in this city and that capacious edifice was almost filled. Senator Fairbanks arrived at 7 o'clock, and after a short drive through the streets was escorted to the auditorium.

Senator Fairbanks was received with hearty applause. In addition to the discussion of the trusts, he touched upon the tariff question and discussed other issues. He outlined the policy of the Republican party with reference to the Panama canal, claiming for that party all the credit for what has been done in the interest of that enterprise. He predicted as a result of his observations in this state that it will cast its vote in November for the Republican ticket.

Senator Fairbanks spent the night here and will Tuesday begin a two-day speaking tour of Iowa.

The timber is found on the Pigeon River, Fond du Lac, Bois Fort, Deer Creek, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Leech Lake, Winnibigoshish, Red Lake and White Earth reserves. No bids will be received for a less sum than $4 a thousand feet for Norway and $5 per thousand for white pine.

Baltimore, Oct. 11.—The campaign tour of Hon. Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, through Maryland and West Virginia, was begun here last night by an immense gathering of Democrats in the Lyric hall, the concourse being so vast that thousands, unable to gain admission to the hall, were addressed at an overflow meeting from a stand on the public streets hastily erected for the occasion. The proceedings were marked by great enthusiasm from first to last. Senator Davis received an enthusiastic ovation upon his appearance, as did William Pinckney Whyte, David B. Hill, Senator Gorman and Senator Daniel, all of whom made speeches. Senator Gorman presided.

MISSIONARY MASS MEETINGS.

Addressed by the Archbishop of Canterbury at Boston.

Boston, Oct. 11.—The archbishop of Canterbury and bishops representing various parts of the world addressed a great missionary mass meeting in Tremont temple last night. The attendance was so large that it was necessary to hold an overflow meeting in St. Paul's church at which most of the addresses were repeated. The address of the archbishop was probably the last he will make during his stay in America. The archbishop put in the day by speaking at three gatherings.

The principal business transacted by the convention was the adoption of a resolution naming Richmond, Va., as the place for the next triennial convention in 1907.

KILLS HIS LITTLE CHILDREN.

Despondent Ohio Man Then Tries to End His Own Life.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 11.—Behumil Schnapp, a Bohemian, forty-one years of age, living at 48 Congress street, took his two children, Emma and John, aged four and three years, into the cellar of their home Monday and killed them by shooting them in the temple. The children had been gagged to prevent an outcry. After killing his children Schnapp went to the cemetery where his wife, who died a year ago, is buried, and fatally shot himself in the head. Besides shooting his children, Schnapp struck them on the head with a five-pound hammer. Schnapp has been ill for months and had brooded over the death of his wife.

THE WORD "HOODLUM."

Man and Incident From Which It Sprung in San Francisco.

"Hoodlum," the word which has found place in the vernacular of the local lexicon, is well understood to apply to a class of objectionable young toughs who have no respect for sex, age or the rights of decent people and no sense of what is proper or becoming in the character of him to whom the epithet is justly applied—a hoodlum today, a criminal tomorrow.

While the meaning of the term is well understood by the people, few there be who know the derivation of the word and how it came to be forced into our language. It is this:

It was in 1872, when the Odd Fellows held a picnic at Redwood City. On that occasion a gang of toughs "batted in" with the otherwise orderly attendance. Among the gang who went from San Francisco was one whose name was Hood Lummix. Nature would seem to have had a farcical part in the creation of the original hoodlum, for Hood Lummix was a most peculiarly formed creature. Clumsy, big footed, with a big mouth and protruding teeth, thick lips, a big bushy head of hair of a dirty brick color, standing out like the quills on a porcupine, this almost malformed specimen, as is usual, attracted the attention of a lot of young rowdies who picked upon him as being an easy guy for a day's sport. Go where he might, he was followed by a gang who hooted and yelled and, in brief, made things unpleasantly lively during the day, but more particularly in the afternoon when the steam beer commenced to do its work.

The amusement of the gang did not confine itself to the picnic grounds. On the contrary, they went outside, broke into orchards and flower gardens, destroying valuable property, and finally wound up the day by shooting a valuable horse belonging to a rancher. This last act was more than the sheriff of San Mateo was prepared to stand, and as a result he bagged a couple of dozen of the chief offenders. When the cases came up before the justice of the peace in Redwood each and every one of the accused laid the entire blame on Hood Lummix. Poor, simple minded Hood got six months in jail, and in sentencing him the justice, who was very much displeased that he could not send the entire gang to state prison, delivered a lecture to the offenders, in which he said: "I now warn you to keep out of this county; we want no more of Hood Lummix or his gang to visit us." Hence the word became coined by dropping the last syllable of the name, making the word as now used, "hoodlum."—San Francisco Call.

Mexico's Floating Gardens.

The floating gardens in the lakes near the City of Mexico were recently visited by an English naturalist, who reports them a paradise and accounts for their existence. Floating tangles of peat moss, rushes and grass are caught by stakes driven into the soft lake bottom, and upon this moss rich mud from the bottom is thrown. The surface is then transformed by cultivation into a floating garden.

Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia. Now in Good Health.

Dr. M. M. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—After a sickness of more than five years, I was tempted to try your Kidney and Backache Cure. In the mean time I had tried or been under about 20 doctors care at the beginning of my trouble. It was thought to be only a local one, but as time wore on I became worse, so that at last I could not stand on my feet. Then my arms and hands became useless.

But at last after a very long time the use of both came back to me so that I could walk a little with the aid of crutches. The Doctors helped me to this point and no further, and for 2½ years I kept in the same condition.

Through the use of your Kidney and Backache Cure I am now in good health. Will say, the doctors told me—all of them—that there was no cure for me, because I was then suffering from Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia.

I Remain yours Respectfully,

Save dollars in fuel

You can not afford to say to yourself "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Cole's Hot Blast is the Modern Heater

It produces an even temperature because it is air-tight and burns all the gases in the fuel with the patented Hot Blast Draft. Soft coal is half gas. Even heat all night. Fire never out with Cole's Hot Blast. It has double the positive radiating power of other stoves. No extremes of heat and cold. The smoke proof feed door is a great feature.

If you want to keep your plants from freezing and enjoy the luxury of getting up in warm rooms every morning without kindling new fires, investigate Cole's Hot Blast today. With every stove goes this

GUARANTEE

- 1—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size.
- 2—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner with same heating surface.
- 3—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
- 4—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal thirty-six hours, without attention.
- 5—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal or hard coal, lignite or slack.
- 6—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.
- 7—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good flue.

RUSSO-GERMAN PACT

WILL ALLOW RUSSIA TO SEND TROOPS FROM POLAND TO

WHAT GERMANY IS SEEKING

SUPPORT OF RUSSIA IN CASE SHE ATTEMPTS TO ANNEX THE NETHERLANDS.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—The rumor of the existence of a secret understanding between Russia and Germany covering the war in the far East has again been revived. According to the latest version Germany gives certain guarantees to Emperor Nicholas regarding the German frontier, which will enable Russia to withdraw troops from the big garrisons maintained in Russian Poland and dispatch them to the far East, besides agreeing to support Russia in the peace negotiations at the end of the war. Germany's compensation in addition to the concessions made in the commercial treaties already negotiated is to be the support of Russia in the attempt to incorporate The Netherlands in the German confederation in the event of the death of Queen Wilhelmina without a direct heir.

While the story is ridiculed in responsible quarters, it receives credence among some diplomats.

CAMPAIGN IN THE WEST.

Democratic Chairman Taggart Will Devote Most of His Time to It.

New York, Oct. 11.—A few callers were received by Judge Parker Monday at his apartments at the Hotel Seville where he will remain until Thursday night on the fifth of his political visits to New York. Chairman Taggart had a long visit with Judge Parker at night. Inasmuch as the national chairman is soon to leave for Indiana to give the situation there most of his time until election day the conversation was confined almost exclusively to the campaign in that state. It has been decided by Mr. Taggart and his associates that his presence will be needed in the West hereafter and while he will be kept advised on everything that takes place at national headquarters, the active management in the East will fall almost entirely on Senator Gorman and Vice Chairman Delancy Nicoll, with W. F. Sheehan devoting most of his attention to the situation in New York.

In this connection it is said Colonel Daniel S. Lamont, secretary of war under Former President Cleveland, will be identified with the campaign closer than ever.

Judge Parker, it is said, does not intend to spend more than one or two days out of each week in New York after he returns home on Thursday. A number of delegations have asked for dates when they may visit the candidate at Esopus.

FAIRBANKS TALKS AT OMAHA.

Predicts Success of Republican Ticket in Nebraska.

Omaha, Oct. 11.—In a speech here last night Senator Fairbanks discussed the trust question.

The meeting at which Senator Fairbanks spoke was held at the new auditorium building in this city and that capacious edifice was almost filled. Senator Fairbanks arrived at 7 o'clock, and after a short drive through the streets was escorted to the auditorium.

Senator Fairbanks was received with hearty applause. In addition to the discussion of the trusts, he touched upon the tariff question and discussed other issues. He outlined the policy of the Republican party with reference to the Panama canal, claiming for that party all the credit for what has been done in the interest of that enterprise. He predicted as a result of his observations in this state that it will cast its vote in November for the Republican ticket.

Senator Fairbanks spent the night here and will Tuesday begin a two-day speaking tour of Iowa.

The timber is found on the Pigeon River, Fond du Lac, Bois Fort, Deer Creek, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Leech Lake, Winnibigoshish, Red Lake and White Earth reserves. The greatest amount of pine to be offered on any one reservation is at the White Earth, where there is 128,306,000 feet of white pine and 82,468,000 feet of Norway. No bids will be received for a less sum than $4 a thousand feet for Norway and $5 per thousand for white pine.

SIDE LIGHTS ON HOAR

Massachusetts Senator's Enthusiasm For Rural Life.

LOVER OF THE FIELDS AND WOODS

Deep in Statecraft, He Was Very Fond of the Country and Believed in Its Beneficial Work—Anecdotes That Depict His Keen Wit—How His Colleagues Gauged His Humor.

A side of the late Senator George Frisbie Hoar's character with which those who knew him only as a statesman and a scholar are unfamiliar was his enthusiasm for country life, says the Boston Herald. Rarely have the advantages and attractions of boy life on a New England farm been expressed more poetically than by Mr. Hoar in a short speech introducing Senator Lodge at the inauguration of Carroll D. Wright as president of Clark college at Worcester Oct. 9, 1902, in which he showed how great was his colleague's misfortune in being city bred.

During his many years of public life Senator Hoar found time to be out of doors a great deal in the summer. His home in Worcester is separated from the neighboring houses by broad lawns and many trees, so that the outlook from the house is suggestive of the country. During recent years the senator took great pleasure during the summer in long drives through the beautiful hilly country surrounding Worcester and often enjoyed the scenery from a seat in a trolley car. He expressed his feeling about the country when he said:

"There was never better gymnasium for body and intellect and soul; there was never fitter preparation for college or university or for the greater university of the world than the life, from the early settlement of the country down to a day most of us can remember, on a New England farm. What an education in the old days, when the thick wood came up close to the village; when the boy's schoolmates were the hawk and the owl and the raccoon and the muskrat; when he was schooled in the lore of wood and pond and river; when he went barefoot from the frost in the spring to the frost in the autumn, and thawed out the pump and shoveled out the path through the snow in the winter morning, and had—

"Every moral feeling of the soul strengthened and braced by breathing in content
The keen and wholesome air of poverty
And drinking from the well of homely life.

"In those days when a boy wanted to have a thing done for him he had to do it himself. He had to keep his eyes and his ears open to nature's constant challenge from wood and field and river and pond. The pickerel in the pond and the muskrat in the river and the hawk in the sky and the woodchuck in his hole and the gray squirrel on the tree top were calling to him, 'Get me if you can.' He went out to his day's work with an exhilaration that nobody but Chaucer, the poet of the morning and of joy, could adequately describe unless, perhaps, we except Gray, who has told us the story of English country life and of ours in a poem, every line of which is a gem more precious than the Kohinoor.

"Oft did the harvest to the sickle yield;
Their furrows oft the stubborn glebe has broke.
How jocund did they drive their team afield,
How bow'd the woods beneath their sturdy stroke!

"I account it a great misfortune to any man to have missed that school."

Senator Hoar's wit, harmless as a dove among his private friends, was as keen as a stiletto when wielded in the legislative chamber. I might mention a few instances in point, says a writer in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Senator Ben Tillman can be a bit prudish on occasions in the use of good English. Ex-Senator Allen of Nebraska, less careful in the niceties of the language, was noted as the longest winded debater in the senate, a fact which leads point to this instance.

In the course of a senate colloquy Tillman and Allen disputed over the pronunciation of the word "stus," the South Carolinian contending that the "i" should be long, while his opponent stuck to the short sound. The question was referred to Hoar as authority in good English.

"The senator from South Carolina is technically correct," decided the oracle, "but I suppose the senator from Nebraska desired to save time by using the short sound."

A newspaper correspondent once asked Senator Hoar for his photograph.

"Why, certainly," said the senator cordially. "Garland, go and sit for my picture."

Garland was one of his private secretaries. The correspondent looked puzzled.

"Oh, that's all right," continued the senator. "Garland always sits for my portrait because he is a much better looking man than I am. When I am asked for my autograph I get Goodwin, my other secretary, to write it for me. He is the best penman, and when I am asked for my opinion on any matter the inquirer is referred to Doherty, my messenger."

Doherty was Hoar's handy man, among his duties being to guard the senator's door. He was mentioned in one of the Washington papers one day as Senator Hoar's "fidus Achates."

"See here, Doherty, what these newspaper men are calling you," said Mr. Hoar, pointing to the paragraph.

"What does it mean?" asked Doherty, scratching his head.

"Oh, I wouldn't like to tell," replied his employer, in a tone that seemed to show that the meaning was too shocking to be translated into plain English. Forthwith the offended Doherty went out to look for the "bloody spalpeen" who called him a "fidus Achates."

Senator Hoar once declined an invitation to attend one of the annual banquets of the famous Gridiron club.

"I know that if I should go I would be called on for a speech," he explained. "Now, I can speak only in Greek, while you fellows can understand only Sanskrit."

Though the soul of generosity, there was nothing slipshod in Hoar's idea of honesty. He would never accept gifts of any kind from corporations that deal with the public.

Once he was riding on a train from New York to Washington, his seat mate being the railroad manager. When the conductor came to collect fares the railroad official was astonished to see a United States senator pull from his pocket a regulation ticket to be punched. As soon as he could, the manager mailed to Mr. Hoar a season pass over his lines, only to have it returned by next mail with Mr. Hoar's thanks and with the statement that the senator never accepted free passes.

The same strict integrity marked his legal practice. A client brought suit on the strength of Mr. Hoar's opinion that he would win the case. But the client lost, and Mr. Hoar refused to take a fee. He saw no reason why a man should pay for his lawyer's blunder.

Senator Hoar had one story that he was fond of telling. It ran as follows, says the Chicago Tribune:

"My old friend Professor Gallaudet of the deaf and dumb college in Washington told me some twelve or fifteen years ago a pathetic story, which I think may be well applied to a great many gentlemen who have political crotchets or peculiar notions in their heads. He had a little boy in his institution between five and six years old, a little deaf and dumb fellow, very precocious, and the doctor liked very much to talk to him and he liked to talk to Dr. Gallaudet. One day the doctor asked him if he knew the story of George Washington and the hatchet. The little fellow said he did.

"Well," said the doctor, "won't you tell me?"

"So he began to spell it off on his fingers, and when he came to the right place in the story, 'He took the hatchet in his left hand and he said to his father—'

"The doctor interrupted him. 'What did he take the hatchet in his left hand for?' 'Why, he wanted his right hand to tell him with,' said the boy."

A little more than a year ago Senator Hoar was in Chicago and visited the Armour institute, where he talked to the students.

"I feel as if I were talking to 1,200 of my grandchildren," began the venerable senator. "Probably you do not know it, but I believe and take pride in the belief that I am the grandfather of technical education in the United States. I made the first address in behalf of such education. It was delivered before the Massachusetts legislature years ago. I wish to defend the honor that I feel in being thus a pioneer in the field in which you labor."

"Andrew D. White heard that I claimed to have made this first speech, and he wrote me saying that he thought he was the forerunner. He sent me the speech he made, and I mailed him mine, which bore a date three years earlier than that marked on his. I don't wish to appear egotistical, but I say what I have said because I am justly proud."

Senator Hoar related with much glee a conversation that took place between two southerners, the first of whom had but lately returned from a trip through New England, says a writer in Lippincott's Magazine. Said the first man from Dixie to his friend:

"You know those little, white, round beans?"

"Yes," replied the friend, "the kind we feed to our horses?"

"The very same. Well, do you know, sir, that in Boston the enlightened citizens take those little, white, round beans, boil them for three or four hours, mix them with molasses and I know not what other ingredients, bake them, and, then, what do you suppose they then do with the beans?"

"They—"

"They eat 'em, sir!" interrupted the first southerner impressively. "Bless me, sir, they eat 'em!"

In the senate chamber Mr. Hoar sometimes kept his nearest neighbors in a continuous laugh by his running comments on the proceedings. His colleagues could accurately gauge his humor by observing how he played with his bunch of keys. If he waved them gently over his desk he would be found amiable; if he moved them quickly or jerkily he was displeased; if the speaker having the floor should say something to excite the Massachusetts senator's combativeness the keys would tap his desk sharply, says a writer in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

It may surprise you to learn that so old and so scholarly a statesman should have found his favorite mental recreation in such games of literature as "Daredevil Dick; or, the Roaring Red Headed Rooster of the Rialto." Yet such is the fact. Dime and nickel "libraries" were his delight, especially to while away the hours of railroad travel, and he would enjoy the unraveling of the crude and bloody plots with as much zest as a messenger boy.

Senator Hoar was without taste for any kind of sport, his favorite outing exercise being nothing more exciting than a rural trolley ride. His pleasures were essentially mental. Just upon an adjournment of the senate he was asked what he was going to do that summer for recreation.

"Rest in my library and read Greek," he said. It was his idea of a royal good time.

ARENTS MAY RECOVER.

Injured Automobilist Has a Chance for His Life.

New York, Oct. 10.—George Arents, Jr., who was thrown from his machine at Queens Saturday during the automobile race for the Vanderbilt cup, was somewhat better Sunday night than he was Saturday, when it seemed as though his death would be but a matter of a short time. A consultation of physicians resulted in the announcement that Mr. Arents was suffering from a fracture of the skull. He had several sinking spells during the night but at 4 a. m. there was a slight reaction and Mr. Arents was in a semi-conscious condition Sunday night. His recovery is still somewhat uncertain.

It was not until nearly 2 o'clock that the decision in the protest of Albert Clement of the Automobile Club of France was announced. Heath of the same club finished first, but Clement's protest resulted in the committee holding up a decision on the race. The protest was finally disallowed, and the following official time of the race was given out:

Heath, 6:56:45, elapsed time; 5:26:45, corrected time; Clement, 6:58:13, elapsed time; 5:28:13 corrected time.

There was considerable speeding over the course Sunday and as a result a number of arrests were made, while other chauffeurs were warned to keep their machines within the speed law.

BY CAPSIZING OF SAILBOAT.

Five Naval Employees Perish at Pensacola, Fla.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 10.—Five men were drowned in Pensacola bay during the day by the capsizing of a sailboat in which they were returning from Pensacola to the navy yard.

The dead are: Otto Brunz, chief water tender, U. S. N.; Richard Lewis, machinist at navy yard; H. D. Hartley, fireman, second class; W. G. Foster, fireman, second class; N. McGuinness, oiler.

The boat contained nine men, eight of whom were members of the crew of the gunboat Vixen. Four were rescued by a crew from that vessel, who heard cries of distress and rowed half a mile to the spot where the boat capsized.

WORLD'S FAIR ATTENDANCE.

Large Crowd Visits the Exposition on Chicago Day.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The official statement issued by the world's fair show that the attendance on Chicago day, which was observed Saturday, was 163,217, and an attendance for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 8, of 869,945. The attendance since the opening of the exposition to date was 13,376,456.

Two More Convicts Captured.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 10.—Two more of the original seven desperate convicts who made so daring an escape from the Sioux Falls penitentiary Thursday evening have been recaptured. The latest fugitives to be apprehended are John Lee and Frank Taylor, who were caught at Dell Rapids. This makes five of the seven who originally escaped who have now been recaptured. The two who are yet at liberty are Frank Howard and George White.

Fourteen Persons Injured.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10.—The Omaha and St. Joseph express on the Missouri Pacific railway ran into an open switch as it was leaving the yards Sunday and collided with a freight train. Fourteen persons were injured, two seriously.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The Italian war office has ordered all officers on vacation to return immediately to their regiments.

The anointing of King Peter of Serbia was performed at Zlecha with great ceremony Sunday morning.

Archbishop Agius, papal delegate to the Philippine Islands, left Rome Sunday for the United States and the Philippines.

The country residence at Tarrytown of M. Rumsey Miller, lawyer of New York, was destroyed by fire Sunday. Loss, $100,000.

BARBER USED DULL CLIPPERS.

So the Enraged Customer Killed the Tonsorial Artist.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Because he was using a pair of dull clippers, Charles Alexander, a barber, was killed Sunday by James Thomas, whose hair Alexander was cutting. When Thomas complained that the clippers were pulling his hair instead of cutting it, the barber struck Thomas. A fight followed. Thomas got possession of the clippers and slashed his antagonist's throat. Alexander died almost instantly, his jugular vein having been severed.

TWO MEN ASPHYXIATED.

Believed They Blew Out the Gas in a Chicago Hotel.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Peter Karotshol and Christ Mastorais, who came to Chicago last week from California to visit a cousin here, were asphyxiated by gas in a room at the Woodlawn hotel Sunday. When the bodies were found life had been extinct for several hours. The men had been in America but a short time and having been used to oil lamps, it is believed they blew out the gas by mistake.

CONFER WITH PRESIDENT.

Slocum Disaster Commissioners Present Their Report.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Slocum commission which investigated the disaster to the excursion steamer, resulting in the loss of so many lives, called at the White House Sunday night and presented the report of the commission to the president, who discussed it for nearly two hours with the members of the commission. The report probably will be made public about the middle of this week.

Valuable Carriages Burned.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Fire on the upper stories of William F. and B. F. Doney's livery stable caused a loss of about $100,000. Some of the finest carriages owned in Washington, many of them belonging to senators, diplomats and wealthy Washingtonians, stored in the building, were burned.

JAP FORCES ARE RETIRING.

Russians Think the Enemy Wants to Fight Near Liaoyang.

Mukden, Oct. 9, via Tientsin, Oct. 10.—A crossing of the Taisse river east of Benschu by Russian cavalry, shows that the Japanese are retiring on their position at Liaoyang and in the nest of hills about Yental, as though they were still desiring a decisive action near Liaoyang. The Japanese after approaching the Hun river appear merely to hold General Kuroki's late battleground, where cannon firing upon the Russian cavalry occurred during the morning and afternoon of Oct. 7. It was quiet there Friday. The Japanese right is understood to be guarded by a Japanese force beyond where outposts of Cossacks are stationed, but no action between Cossacks and Japanese have been reported for a week. In order to retake lost ground the Russians have now a task similar to that of the Japanese, that is to make a road over a hitherto unmapped region, but the season being dry is highly favorable to the task of road-making. The inactivity of the Japanese is not unusual. It recalls their retirement from the vicinity of Kaichau, before the battle of Vafangow. It also recalls General Kuroki's strategy throughout the firing in Motien pass. The Japanese northernmost front has been located on a line extending from Benschu to the Yental coal mines and bending north in the center toward Huapash.

Opinion of British Experts.

London, Oct. 10.—The new phase of the war involved in General Kuropatkin's stirring address to his army is keenly discussed by English military critics. The general opinion is that the desperate move was ordered by the czar and that Oyama has little to fear from the Russian advance.

TRIBESMEN LOOK FOR TROUBLE.

Moroccans Want to Rebel But Cannot Find Anyone to Rebel Against.

London, Oct. 8.—The Times' Tangier correspondent, in a dispatch published Saturday, describes the growth of anarchy throughout Morocco. The tribes, the correspondent says, only refrain from open rebellion because there is nobody against whom to rebel, as the sultan's authority is non-existent except in the towns. All attempts to collect tribal levies and to secure recruits have failed. The sultan remains at Fez, with only a few hundred ill paid, lawless soldiers. Moorish officials everywhere, the dispatch adds, are taking advantage of the situation to amass money while the sun shines, and the governor of Tangier is already seriously compromised in affairs with several of the legations.

Bad Fire in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Oct. 8.—Lightning last night started a fire in the sash and door plant of Simonson Bros., 1713 Seventeenth street south, which threatened for a time to totally destroy the establishment. The manufacturing department of the concern was the worst damaged, the loss being placed at $40,000.

SIDE LIGHTS ON HOAR

Massachusetts Senator's Enthusiasm For Rural Life.

LOVER OF THE FIELDS AND WOODS

Deep In Statecraft, He Was Very Fond of the Country and Believed In Its Beneficial Work—Anecdotes That Depict His Keen Wit—How His Colleagues Gauged His Humor.

A side of the late Senator George Frisbie Hoar's character with which those who knew him only as a statesman and a scholar are unfamiliar was his enthusiasm for country life, says the Boston Herald. Rarely have the advantages and attractions of boy life on a New England farm been expressed more poetically than by Mr. Hoar in a short speech introducing Senator Lodge at the inauguration of Carroll D. Wright as president of Clark college at Worcester Oct. 9, 1902, in which he showed how great was his colleague's misfortune in being city bred.

During his many years of public life Senator Hoar found time to be out of doors a great deal in the summer. His home in Worcester is separated from the neighboring houses by broad lawns and many trees, so that the outlook from the house is suggestive of the country. During recent years the senator took great pleasure during the summer in long drives through the beautiful billy country surrounding Worcester and often enjoyed the scenery from a seat in a trolley car. He expressed his feeling about the country when he said:

"There was never better gymnasium for body and intellect and soul; there was never fitter preparation for college or university or for the greater university of the world than the life, from the early settlement of the country down to a day most of us can remember, on a New England farm. What an education in the old days, when the thick wood came up close to the village; when the boy's schoolmates were the hawk and the owl and the raccoon and the muskrat; when he was schooled in the lore of wood and pond and river; when he went barefoot from the frost in the spring to the frost in the autumn, and thawed out the pump and shoveled out the path through the snow in the winter morning, and had—

"Every moral feeling of the soul strengthened and braced by breathing in content
The keen and wholesome air of poverty
And drinking from the well of homely life.

"In those days when a boy wanted to have a thing done for him he had to do it himself. He had to keep his eyes and his ears open to nature's constant challenge from wood and field and river and pond. The pickerel in the pond and the muskrat in the river and the hawk in the sky and the woodchuck in his hole and the gray squirrel on the tree top were calling to him, 'Get me if you can!' He went out to his day's work with an exhilaration that nobody but Chaucer, the poet of the morning and of joy, could adequately describe unless, perhaps, we except Gray, who has told us the story of English country life and of ours in a poem, every line of which is a gem more precious than the Kohinoor:

"Oft did the harvest to the sickle yield;
Their furrows oft the stubborn glebe has broke.
How jocund did they drive their team afield,
How bow'd the woods beneath their sturdy stroke!

"I account it a great misfortune to any man to have missed that school."

Senator Hoar's wit, harmless as a dove among his private friends, was as keen as a stiletto when wielded in the legislative chamber. I might mention a few instances in point, says a writer in the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Senator Ben Tillman can be a bit prudish on occasions in the use of good English. Ex-Senator Allen of Nebraska, less careful in the niceties of the language, was noted as the longest winded debater in the senate, a fact which lends point to this instance.

In the course of a senate colloquy Tillman and Allen disputed over the pronunciation of the word "stus," the South Carolinian contending that the "i" should be long, while his opponent stuck to the short sound. The question was referred to Hoar as authority in good English.

"The senator from South Carolina is technically correct," decided the oracle, "but I suppose the senator from Nebraska desired to save time by using the short sound."

A newspaper correspondent once asked Senator Hoar for his photograph. "Why, certainly!" said the senator cordially. "Garland, go and sit for my picture."

Garland was one of his private secretaries. The correspondent looked puzzled.

"Oh, that's all right," continued the senator. "Garland always sits for my portrait because he is a much better looking man than I am. When I am asked for my autograph I get Goodwin, my other secretary, to write it, for he is the best penman, and when I am asked for my opinion on any matter the inquirer is referred to Doherty, my messenger."

Doherty was Hoar's handy man, among his duties being to guard the senator's door. He was mentioned in one of the Washington papers one day as Senator Hoar's "fidus Achates."

"See here, Doherty, what these newspaper men are calling you," said Mr. Hoar, pointing to the paragraph.

"What does it mean?" asked Doherty, scratching his head.

"Oh, I wouldn't like to tell," replied his employer, in a tone that seemed to show that the meaning was too shocking to be translated into plain English. Forthwith the offended Doherty went out to look for the "fidus Achates," who called him a "fidus Achates."

Senator Hoar once declined an invitation to attend one of the annual banquets of the famous Gridiron club.

"I know that if I should go I would be called on for a speech," he explained. "Now, I can speak only in Greek, while you fellows can understand only Sanskrit."

Though the soul of generosity, there was nothing slipshod in Hoar's idea of honesty. He would never accept gifts of any kind from corporations that deal with the public.

Once he was riding on a train from New York to Washington, his seat mate being the railroad manager. When the conductor came to collect fares the railroad official was astonished to see a United States senator pull from his pocket a regulation ticket to be punched. As soon as he could, the manager mailed to Mr. Hoar a season pass over his lines, only to have it returned by next mail with Mr. Hoar's thanks and with the statement that the senator never accepted free passes.

The same strict integrity marked his legal practice. A client brought suit on the strength of Mr. Hoar's opinion that he would win the case. But the client lost, and Mr. Hoar refused to take a fee. He saw no reason why a man should pay for his lawyer's blunder.

Senator Hoar had one story that he was fond of telling. It ran as follows, says the Chicago Tribune:

"My old friend Professor Gallaudet of the deaf and dumb college in Washington told me some twelve or fifteen years ago a pathetic story, which I think may be well applied to a great many gentlemen who have political crochets or peculiar notions in their heads. He had a little boy in his institution between five and six years old, a little deaf and dumb fellow, very precocious, and the doctor liked very much to talk to him and he liked to talk to Dr. Gallaudet. One day the doctor asked him if he knew the story of George Washington and the hatchet. The little fellow said he did.

"Well," said the doctor, "won't you tell me?"

"So he began to spell it off on his fingers, and when he came to the right place in the story, 'He took the hatchet in his left hand and he said to his father—'

"The doctor interrupted him. 'What did he take the hatchet in his left hand for?' 'Why, he wanted his right hand to tell him with,' said the boy."

A little more than a year ago Senator Hoar was in Chicago and visited the Armour institute, where he talked to the students.

"I feel as if I were talking to 1,200 of my grandchildren," began the venerable senator. "Probably you do not know it, but I believe and take pride in the belief that I am the grandfather of technical education in the United States. I made the first address in behalf of such education. It was delivered before the Massachusetts legislature years ago. I wish to defend the honor that I feel in being thus a pioneer in the field in which you labor."

"Andrew D. White heard that I claimed to have made this first speech, and he wrote me saying that he thought he was the forerunner. He sent me the speech he made, and I mailed him mine, which bore a date three years earlier than that marked on his. I don't wish to appear egotistical, but I say what I have said because I am justly proud."

Senator Hoar related with much glee a conversation that took place between two southerners, the first of whom had but lately returned from a trip through New England, says a writer in Lippincott's Magazine. Said the first man from Dixie to his friend:

"You know those little, white, round beans?"

"Yes," replied the friend, "the kind we feed to our horses?"

"The very same. Well, do you know, sir, that in Boston the enlightened citizens take those little, white, round beans, boil them for three or four hours, mix them with molasses and I know not what other ingredients, bake them, and then, what do you suppose they then do with the beans?"

"They—"

"They eat 'em, sir!" interrupted the first southerner impressively. "Bless me, sir, they eat 'em!"

In the senate chamber Mr. Hoar sometimes kept his nearest neighbors in a continuous laugh by his running comments on the proceedings. His colleagues could accurately gauge his humor by observing how he played with his bunch of keys. If he waved them gently over his desk he would be found amiable; if he moved them quickly or jerkily he was displeased; if the speaker having the floor should say something to excite the Massachusetts senator's combativeness the keys would tap his desk sharply, says a writer in the Pittsburg Dispatch.

It may surprise you to learn that so old and so scholarly a statesman should have found his favorite mental recreation in such gems of literature as "Daredevil Dick," or the Roaring Red Headed Rooster of the Rialto. Yet such is the fact. Dime and nickel "libraries" were his delight, especially to while away the hours of railroad travel, and he would enjoy the unraveling of the crude and bloody plots with as much zest as a messenger boy.

Senator Hoar was without taste for any kind of sport, his favorite outing exercise being nothing more exciting than a rural trolley ride. His pleasures were essentially mental. Just upon an adjournment of the senate he was asked what he was going to do that summer for recreation.

"Rest in my library and read Greek," he said. It was his idea of a royal good time.

ARENTS MAY RECOVER.

Injured Automobilist Has a Chance for His Life.

New York, Oct. 10.—George Arents, Jr., who was thrown from his machine at Queens Saturday during the automobile race for the Vanderbilt cup, was somewhat better Sunday night than he was Saturday, when it seemed as though his death would be but a matter of a short time. A consultation of physicians resulted in the announcement that Mr. Arents was suffering from a fracture of the skull. He had several sinking spells during the night but at 4 a. m. there was a slight reaction and Mr. Arents was in a semi-conscious condition Sunday night. His recovery is still somewhat uncertain.

It was not until nearly 2 o'clock that the decision in the protest of Albert Clement of the Automobile Club of France was announced. Heath of the same club finished first, but Clement's protest resulted in the committee holding up a decision on the race. The protest was finally disallowed, and the following official time of the race was given out:

Heath, 6:56:45, elapsed time; 5:26:45, corrected time; Clement, 6:58:13, elapsed time; 5:28:13 corrected time.

There was considerable speeding over the course Sunday and as a result a number of arrests were made, while other chauffeurs were warned to keep their machines within the speed law.

BY CAPSIZING OF SAILBOAT.

Five Naval Employees Perish at Pensacola, Fla.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 10.—Five men were drowned in Pensacola bay during the day by the capsizing of a sailboat in which they were returning from Pensacola to the navy yard. The dead are: Otto Brunz, chief water tender, U. S. N.; Richard Lewis, machinist at navy yard; H. D. Hartley, fireman, second class; W. G. Foster, fireman, second class; N. McGuinness, oiler.

The boat contained nine men, eight of whom were members of the crew of the gunboat Vixen. Four were rescued by a crew from that vessel, who heard cries of distress and rowed half a mile to the spot where the boat capsized.

WORLD'S FAIR ATTENDANCE.

Large Crowd Visits the Exposition on Chicago Day.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The official statement issued by the world's fair show that the attendance on Chicago day, which was observed Saturday, was 163,317, and an attendance for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 8, of $60,945. The attendance since the opening of the exposition to date was 13,376,456.

Two More Convicts Captured.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 10.—Two more of the original seven desperate convicts who made so daring an escape from the Sioux Falls penitentiary Thursday evening have been recaptured. The latest fugitives to be apprehended are John Lee and Frank Taylor, who were caught at Dell Rapids. This makes five of the seven who originally escaped who have now been recaptured. The two who are yet at liberty are Frank Howard and George White.

Fourteen Persons Injured.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10.—The Omaha and St. Joseph express on the Missouri Pacific railway ran into an open switch as it was leaving the yards Sunday and collided with a freight train. Fourteen persons were injured, two seriously.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The Italian war office has ordered all officers on vacation to return immediately to their regiments.

The anointing of King Peter of Serbia was performed at Zichva with great ceremony Sunday morning.

Archbishop Agius, papal delegate to the Philippine islands, left Rome Sunday for the United States and the Philippines.

The country residence at Tarrytown of M. Rumsey Miller, lawyer of New York, was destroyed by fire Sunday. Loss, $100,000.

BARBER USED DULL CLIPPERS.

So the Enraged Customer Killed the Tonsorial Artist.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Because he was using a pair of dull clippers, Charles Alexander, a barber, was killed Sunday by James Thomas, whose hair Alexander was cutting. When Thomas complained that the clippers were pulling his hair instead of cutting it, the barber struck Thomas. A fight followed. Thomas got possession of the clippers and slashed his antagonist's throat. Alexander died almost instantly, his jugular vein having been severed.

TWO MEN ASPHYXIATED.

Believed They Blew Out the Gas in a Chicago Hotel.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Peter Karotshoi and Christ Mastoras, who came to Chicago last week from California to visit a cousin here, were asphyxiated by gas in a room at the Woodlawn hotel Sunday. When the bodies were found life had been extinct for several hours. The men had been in America but a short time and having been used to oil lamps, it is believed they blew out the gas by mistake.

CONFER WITH PRESIDENT.

Slocum Disaster Commissioners Present Their Report.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Slocum commission which investigated the disaster to the excursion steamer, resulting in the loss of so many lives, called at the White House Sunday night and presented the report of the commission to the president, who discussed it for nearly two hours with the members of the commission. The report probably will be made public about the middle of this week.

Valuable Carriages Burned.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Fire on the upper stories of William F. and B. F. Downey's luxury stable caused a loss of about $100,000. Some of the finest carriages owned in Washington, many of them belonging to senators, diplomats and wealthy Washingtonians, stored in the building, were burned.

JAP FORCES ARE RETIRING.

Russians Think the Enemy Wants to Fight Near Liaoyang.

Mukden, Oct. 9, via Tientsin, Oct. 10.—A crossing of the Taitse river east of Bensihi by Russian cavalry, shows that the Japanese are retiring on their position at Liaoyang and in the nest of hills about Yentai, as though they were still desiring a decisive action near Liaoyang. The Japanese after approaching the Hun river appear merely to hold General Kuroki's late battleground, where cannon firing upon the Russian cavalry occurred during the morning and afternoon of Oct. 7. It was quiet there Friday. The Japanese light is understood to be guarded by a Japanese force beyond where outposts of Cossacks are stationed, but no action between Cossacks and Japanese have been reported for a week. In order to retake lost ground the Russians have now a task similar to that of the Japanese, that is to make a road over a hitherto unmapped region, but the season being dry is highly favorable to the task of road-making. The inactivity of the Japanese is not unusual. It recalls their retirement from the vicinity of Kaichau, before the battle of Vafangow. It also recalls General Kuroki's strategy throughout the firing in Motien pass. The Japanese northernmost front has been located on a line extending from Bensihi to the Yentai coal mines and bending north in the center toward Huapash.

Opinion of British Experts.

London, Oct. 10.—The new phase of the war involved in General Kuroki's stirring address to his army is keenly discussed by English military critics. The general opinion is that the desperate move was ordered by the czar and that Oyama has little to fear from the Russian advance.

TRIBESMEN LOOK FOR TROUBLE.

Moroccans Want to Rebel But Cannot Find Anyone to Rebel Against.

London, Oct. 8.—The Times' Tangier correspondent, in a dispatch published Saturday, describes the growth of anarchy throughout Morocco. The tribes, the correspondent says, only refrain from open rebellion because there is nobody against whom to rebel, as the sultan's authority is non-existent except inside the towns. All attempts to collect tribal levies and to secure recruits have failed. The sultan remains at Fez, with only a few hundred ill paid, lawless soldiers. Moorish officials everywhere, the dispatch adds, are taking advantage of the situation to amass money while the sun shines, and the governor of Tangier is already seriously compromised in affairs with several of the legations.

Bad Fire in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Oct. 8.—Lightning last night started a fire in the sash and door plant of Simonson Bros., 1713 Seventeenth street south, which threatened for a time to totally destroy the establishment. The manufacturing department of the concern was the worst damaged, the loss being placed at $40,000.

MELVIN WALKER WAS MURDERED

A Telegram Received by C. A. Walker This Morning Brings Sad News of His Death

NO PARTICULARS ARE RECEIVED

The Deceased was a Son of S. Walker and Grew to Manhood in Brainerd.

Word was received this morning that Mel Walker, a son of S. Walker, of this city, was murdered. No particulars are attainable at this time, all news received being contained in the following telegram received about 4:30 this morning by his brother, C. A. Walker:

"Crookton, Col., Oct. 10, 1904.

C. A. Walker, Brainerd, Minn.

Mell was murdered this evening. Come at once.

Laura."

Laura is his wife. The telegram was filed at 8 o'clock last night so that the murder must have been committed early in the evening. Mr. Walker, at the time of his death, was running a big ranch and supplying the surrounding mining camps with meat. So far as was known here he had no enemies, nor was there any complications in his business known here that would engender animosity.

Charles Walker and Frank Walker left today noon for Crookton and telegraphed another brother, M. G. Walker, who lives at Sand Point, Idaho, to meet them at Crookton. Until their arrival nothing will be arranged as to the funeral or interment.

Melvin Clark Walker was born in Sherburne county, Minnesota, Feb. 10, 1868. In 1881 he came to Brainerd and made this his home off and on for many years. He was married in Crookton, Minn., about fourteen years ago to Miss Flanagan, who survives him. He also leaves, besides his parents, three brothers, Chas. A. and Frank, of this city, and Malcolm G., of Sand Point, Idaho, and two sisters, Mrs. M. B. Pullen, of Anoka, and Miss Kittie Walker. The aged parents, who are almost prostrated by the sudden shock, and the sorrowing relatives have the sympathy of the entire community in their terrible bereavement.

"THE RANSFORD" IF YOU PLEASE

This Will Be the Name of the New Hotel Built by R. R. Wise on Front Street

R. R. Wise has decided to call the new hotel which he is building on the corner of Front and Sixth streets, "The Ransford". This is Mr. Wise's first name.

He now has a crew of thirty men at work on the building and in a few days will have twenty others at work. There are twenty carloads of material on the road for the new hotel.

The Miracle Block.

This is the name of H. L. Turcotte's new business block being erected on Sixth street. Mr. Turcotte may well be proud of his business block just approaching completion. When he decided to use cement building blocks of Brainerd manufacture the wise ones said that it might stand all right but that it would not and could not be made handsome. The contrary has been proven and it is one of the finest buildings in the city in appearance.

GIVES HIS SON A JOB

Graham Mellen, Formerly Employed in This City, Given a Job in the East

The following dispatch will be of interest to the friends of the young man in the city:

"President C. S. Mellen of the New Haven railroad has put his son, Graham R. Mellen, into the general offices of the railroad in this city, saying that he means to start him at the bottom of the ladder and let him fight his way to the top.

Graham is 22 years old and was sent East by his father in 1899 from St. Paul when Mr. Mellen was president of the Northern Pacific, entering Yale in the class of 1902. He was graduated with honors.

For Former Superintendent Cheadle of the City Schools, Now a Montana Judge

The following from the Lewistown (Montana) Democrat, will be of interest to many residents of this city, who knew Mr. Cheadle well when he was superintendent of schools in this city:

"By refusing to nominate anyone to contest the judgeship with Judge E. K. Cheadle, the present incumbent and the republican nominee, the democratic county convention did a wise and graceful thing. It could be emulated with profit by every county in Montana. Four years ago Edwin K. Cheadle was elected judge of the Tenth judicial district by the republican party. From the moment that he took his oath of office until the present time his every act has honored the position to which he was elected. He has risen above everything pertaining to party or personal feeling, and his decisions have been wise and just. His scholarly accomplishments, his legal attainments and his strict and conscientious attention to the duties of his most important office have combined to give him an enviable reputation throughout the state. His genial personality and splendid manhood in all affairs outside of his office have made him honored and loved at home. Laura."

Laura is his wife. The telegram was filed at 8 o'clock last night so that the murder must have been committed early in the evening. Mr. Walker, at the time of his death, was running a big ranch and supplying the surrounding mining camps with meat. So far as was known here he had no enemies, nor was there any complications in his business known here that would engender animosity.

Charles Walker and Frank Walker left today noon for Crookton and telegraphed another brother, M. G. Walker, who lives at Sand Point, Idaho, to meet them at Crookton. Until their arrival nothing will be arranged as to the funeral or interment.

Melvin Clark Walker was born in Sherburne county, Minnesota, Feb. 10, 1868. In 1881 he came to Brainerd and made this his home off and on for many years. INSPECTS TORPEDO FLOTILLAS.

Visit of Russian Looks Over His Small Sea Fighters.

Reval, Russia, Oct. 11.—Emperor Nicholas Monty inspected the torpedo flotillas that are to accompany the Baltic fleet to the far East. His majesty made a speech to the crews, thanking them for their past services and wishing them a pleasant voyage. In the afternoon the emperor, accompanied by the empress, visited the cathedral and the Lutheran church. At the latter the pastor delivered an address of welcome. Subsequently the emperor and empress returned to the imperial yacht. Later in the day their majesties were driven to the station and left on a special train for St. Petersburg. Great crowds lined the route, especially meeting the emperor and the infant czarevitch. There was much enthusiasm.

QUIET AT PORT ARTHUR.

No Important Fighting Since Assault of Sept. 23.

Chefoo, Oct. 11.—The Russian agent here announces authoritatively that there has been no fighting of importance at Port Arthur since the last big assault on the fortress from Sept. 19 to Sept. 23.

On the night of Oct. 5 the Japanese landed a force from Tatshe bay and the Russians retired in the face of superior numbers. The next day, however, the Japanese were driven out by an artillery fire, one gun, which they had mounted being destroyed. The Japanese engage in bombardments for three or four hours daily.

SQUADRON SAILS FOR LIBAU.

Russian Baltic Vessels Will Sail Thence for the Orient.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—After the farrowed review of the Baltic fleet at Reval Monday by Emperor Nicholas, the squadron sailed for Libau, from whence, it is declared, it will within a few days weigh anchor for the long voyage to the Pacific.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 11.—S. A. Scott, an oil company promoter, who recently did an extensive business in Sac and Calhoun counties, is lodged in jail in Rockwell City, Ia., to face three indictments returned against him by the grand jury for securing money under false pretenses. He was arrested at Montpelier, Ind., by the sheriff of Calhoun county.

Politeness does not mean stiffness of manner, but, on the contrary, ease of manner.

On the visiting card the day for receiving is engraved or written in the lower left hand corner.

The old fashioned practice of folding over the right side of the visiting card to show it has been left in person is no longer observed.

Before making a call on a lady, a gentleman must first receive an invitation to do so, or he must first ask and receive her permission to come.

At the table the knife is held in the hand as little as possible, being used only when it is necessary to cut the food. For the majority of vegetables the tines of the fork may be used instead of the knife.

Rose culture's beginning goes back beyond records. The flower is mentioned in the earliest Coptic manuscripts. India's traditions take the rose to the times of the gods on earth. Egypt had roses, wild and tame, before the Roman occupation made it, in a way, Rome's commercial rose garden. Yet, curiously enough, there is no reference to the flower in painting, sculpture or hieroglyphics. Japan in our time parallels Egypt. Roses flourish there, but do not serve as a motif for artists. One Republican State Ticket Finally Decided Upon.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 11.—After innumerable conferences continuing over a period of several weeks, the state committees of the regular Republicans and the Union or Addicks Republicans last night came to an agreement on one state and congressional ticket for the Republican party in Delaware. Preston Lea of this city, who is identified with the anti-Addicks or regular Republican faction, was agreed upon as the compromise candidate for governor on the condition that he appoint as secretary of state, if elected, any one of three men whose names the Union Republicans will present to him. The two committees will meet on Wednesday morning to select the candidates for the remainder of the ticket. It also has been agreed that the Union Republicans shall name the candidates for lieutenant governor, insurance commissioner and congress, and the regulars shall name the candidate for attorney general, state treasurer and state auditor. It was further agreed that the state committee shall meet and arrange for a joint campaign committee.

All the candidates on the Union ticket have resigned. The conventions of both factions nominated the same presidential electors.

CLEVELAND WILL PRESIDE.

Former President to Make a Speech at New York Meeting.

New York, Oct. 11.—The following official announcement of Grover Cleveland's appearance at a political meeting in this city was made at Democratic national headquarters Monday:

"The Business Men's Parker and Davis association, whose membership is drawn from the leading business men of New York, has arranged to hold a mass meeting in Carnegie hall on Oct. 21 Ex-President Grover Cleveland has so far overcome his disinclination to make a speech during the canvass that he has consented to preside at this meeting. It is, however, fully understood both by the national committee and by his friends, that this appearance of the ex-president will be the only one he will make as a speaker during the campaign. The principal speech of the evening will be delivered by John G. Cahill, and it is expected that this meeting will be the most important one held by any party in New York during the pending campaign."

NO CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY.

National Republican Committee Recognizes Lafollette Organization.

New York, Oct. 11.—It was stated at Republican national headquarters Monday that there was no conflict of authority about the Wisconsin Republican organization. As soon as the supreme court decision was announced in favor of the Lafollette electoral ticket Chairman Cortelyou directed the Western national headquarters to recognize the Lafollette state committee as the regular Republican organization.

CLEVELAND WILL PRESIDE.

Former President to Make a Speech at New York Meeting.

New York, Oct. 11.—The following official announcement of Grover Cleveland's appearance at a political meeting in this city was made at Democratic national headquarters Monday: "The Business Men's Parker and Davis association, whose membership is drawn from the leading business men of New York, has arranged to hold a mass meeting in Carnegie hall on Oct. 21. Ex-President Grover Cleveland has so far overcome his disinclination to make a speech during the canvass that he has consented to preside at this meeting. It is, however, fully understood both by the national committee and by his friends, that this appearance of the ex-president will be the only one he will make as a speaker during the campaign. The principal speech of the evening will be delivered by John G. Carlisle, and it is expected that this meeting will be the most important one held by any party in New York during the pending campaign."

NO CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY.

National Republican Committee Recognizes La Follette Organization.

New York, Oct. 11.—It was stated at Republican national headquarters Monday that there was no conflict of authority about the Wisconsin Republican organization. As soon as the supreme court decision was announced in favor of the La Follette electoral ticket, Chairman Cortelyou directed the Western national headquarters to recognize the La Follette state committee as the regular Republican organization.

The Gem of the Family.

Here is a little incident which a commentator on Dean Ramsay's "Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character" thinks is worthy of a place in that volume: A Mr. Baird, who was one of those who had made great fortunes in the iron industry in Scotland, having risen from a laborer to be worth about $10,000,000, was once dining with the Duke of Hamilton. His grace said that he had not had the pleasure of meeting any of Mr. Baird's brothers. Mr. Baird replied, "And a great loss, my lord; they're all brutes but me."
